Osborn

1973-74

Hi-Jacket, Volume 29

Once again Osbourn opened its doors to another school year.

But this year was going to be unique and students looked at their school in a different way. In January Osbourn's population would inhabit the new Osbourn Park High School.

Students anxiously awaited January's of being on one shift. Many hoped to leave halls which were deteriorating due to bright promise

the cherished
years of overuse.

Delays in construction sprang up and the moving date was postponed.

As a result, doubt and pessimism spread their thin veil over Osborun.

More delays and problems arose and occupation of the new school was put off again and again.

But other things contributed to the questions
in peoples minds—

government swarmed with scandals, war
Mid-East, a gas crisis hurt the world and other events led to A Year of erupted in the economy. These Uncertainties.

Autumn Activities

After a summer filled with Senate Watergate Hearings, Osbourn once again was back in the routine of split shifts. The routine was broken up somewhat in the early days of school by heat days. These were days when the mercury hovered in the nineties and classrooms became unbearably hot. Second shift was dismissed early while first shift complained. Some other novel things happened in the beginning of the school year. The country's Vice President decided to resign and a war started between the Arabs and the Jews. But we also had the run-of-the-mill things at Osbourn. The usual schedule mix-ups that somehow always got blamed on the computer were a common complaint among students. There was a discouraging football season, a winning girls' basketball team, cross country meets, and an exciting Homecoming weekend.

Queen Bees Try for Crown— Only Second

The consistently winning teams Coach Nancy Huff has produced gave Osbourn's sports a new dimension of victory. The girls' performances were a source of hope and pride for the entire school. The Girls' Varsity basketball team reached the finals in the District Tournament. However, the championship was just out of their grasp as they lost to an overpowering Garfield attack. With the victory filled season other bright spots included the All-County performances of Hess Stuart and Lisa Hewitt.

The winningest coach at Osbourn announced that this year was to be her last basketball coaching season, but promised to continue as softball coach. Next year's basketball coach will enter a team that has a tradition of victory.

Stretching, Kathy Peters tries to get that rebound. Giving that extra push, Barb Brown makes two points. Penton, well guarded by the opposition, shoots blocked. Lisa Hewitt gets the jump. Sophomore Cheri Morrow looks for a play to set up. As graceful as ever, Donna Penton chalks up two more points.

Aided by Ms. Barnes, a new P.E. instructor at OHS, the Little Bees pulled through many victories, ending their season in third place. Second unfortunately went to Woodbridge, who managed to sink a free throw in the playoff game with the Little Bees, thus robbing them of second place. This exciting game lasted through two tied overtime periods and with just a few seconds left in the extra quarter Woodbridge scored their point.

The girls' teamwork and strategy seemed to work well, especially with some of the new plays Coach Barnes added to their practice hours. These plays gave the girls a chance to develop a press and work on fast breaks, which helped them in their fine season.

Upon the retirement of Ms. Huff as girls' varsity basketball coach a space will be left unfilled in the OHS coaching staff. Ms. Barnes will fill this opening, with hopes to drive the Queen Bees to the championships, as she did with the Little Bees.

It's obvious what "the Thinker," Terence Frame is thinking about. A close-up of—Rick Seymour's back as half-time calisthenics begin. Zarko Ellis makes a quick pivot in his bid for daylight against Stonewall. Ellis is cut down from behind by two Indians. Freshman Bentley Watkins scrounges for every inch against Handley

A Building Year

Perhaps newly-arrived line coach Chuck Hornfeck best summed up the entire season with this comment made in the first week of practice, "This is the first place that I've ever been where guys threw up during calisthenics."

For second year coach Karl Kuhn this year's 0-10 season couldn't have been very satisfying. During the season the Osbourn roster hovered around 25 men, which means that several players had to play both offense and defense.

The high point of the season came against second-ranked Fauquier. The Yellow Jacket defense held the Falcons to 18 points in sub-freezing weather. Three Yellow Jackets made the All-County team, these individual standouts where: senior—Terence Frame, end; junior—Ronnie Watkins, defensive end; and junior Ricky Woodward, tackle.

David Thompson goes down under fire against Handley. Coiled and ready to strike, the OHS offense attempts to psych-out its opponent. Terence Frame is spotted by George Kelecheck as Stonewall defenders move in. Bob Frazier's eyes seem to have fallen out of his head as a pass slips beyond his grasp. Coaches Kuhn and Hornfeck contemplate their next move.

Football Suffers Defeat

The Hi-Jacket staff at this time expresses a direct challenge to the student body of Osbourn Senior High School, a challenge to get involved, a challenge to excell. We can only find praise for the coaches and the determined students who find the time and the courage to go out and represent our school on the athletic fields. Athletics at Osbourn have hit a low point, the only way to go is up. Now it is up to the OHS student body to make certain sacrifices in order to gain new respect and pride for our school. Now get involved!

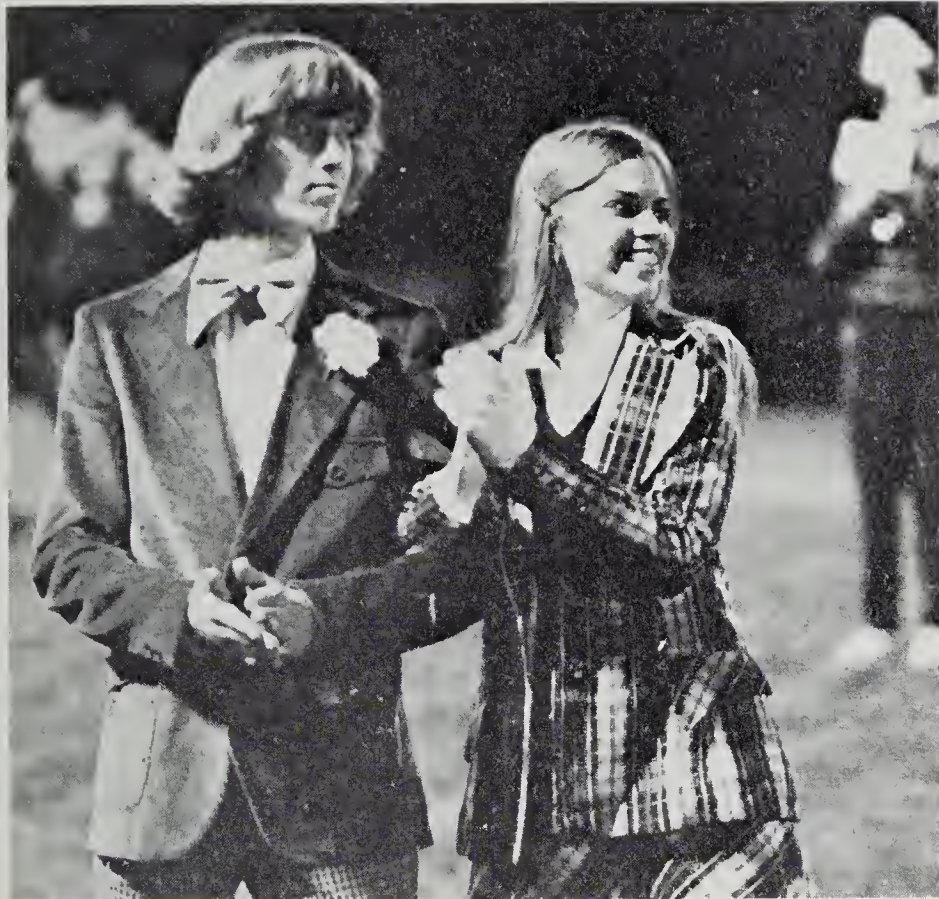

Quarterback Donald Rhodes scrambles for every extra inch against Stonewall. Bentley Watkins makes a tight turn as David Thompson (31) watches for would-be tacklers. Ben Musgrove is swamped by a host of Raiders as soon as taking the handoff from George Kelecheck (11). A close up of the action behind the line of scrimmage. Kelecheck whirls for the hand-off. A typical scene against Stonewall, Kelecheck releases a pass under heavy pressure as Steve Hurley (61) trips up a threatening opponent. Zarko Ellis unleashes a punt against Stonewall. Defensive end Ronnie Watkins finds his hands full during a Raider end sweep. Somewhere in the chaos George Kelecheck releases a pass. Zarko Ellis fights to stay afoot against Woodbridge.

Homecoming

This year's homecoming marked the first time that the whole student body could vote for the Homecoming Queen. The three Senior choices were Candy Caudle, Kathy Zangas and Dee Christopher.

The Homecoming parade came through town and included class floats, the band and floats by several clubs.

During halftime of the game, the court and their escorts were driven around the track. When the final moment arrived it was discovered that Kathy Zangas would be the new Homecoming Queen. In this joyful time she was crowned by last year's Queen, Grace Dunaway.

Being driven around the track are Senior representatives Kathy Zangas, Dee Christopher and Candy Caudle. Freshmen representatives were Denise Messhall and Ginny Waldron. Crowned Homecoming Queen for 1974 is Kathy Zangas. Dr. Rhoads and the drum major watch the proceedings. Preparing to give up her crown, last year's Queen Grace Dunaway reminisces. Junior representative Marcie Howard clings to her escort, Gary Pearson. It's a family affair—Junior Ginger Allen is escorted by her brother Tony Allen. Sophomore Tory Everett and her escort Keith Black enjoy the event. Another sophomore representative is Candy Snellenberger.

Zodiac

The theme for the Homecoming dance this year was "The Zodiac." Along with the theme were appropriate decorations with each sign of the zodiac. Music was provided by the band Soul Explosion. Tasty refreshments were also served.

Featured at the dance is the band Soul Explosion. In the parade, the Key Club's float won first place. Three members of the group Soul Explosion are shown. Everyone enjoyed the dance, including this Osbourn alumnus. This band player has a fine performance. Ms. Kessler also enjoyed the Homecoming dance.

Kiddie Day

To help raise spirit among the student body the cheerleaders sponsored a Kiddie Day with the theme "Jackets Don't Kid Around!" Free tickets to the football game were obtained by shouting "Beat Stonewall" to a ticket holder. Many students responded and dressed up as children. The cheerleaders proclaimed Kiddie Day a success, even though the game wasn't.

Winter

Winter Events

"I've heard of night school, but this is ridiculous!" "° # !?!! I have a right to sleep at least until the sun comes up!"

Such were the comments heard from first shift students when a daylight savings time law was put into effect. Under the new law, Osbournites got up before the sun and went to school in the dark. First shift students and teachers found themselves walking to school with flashlights, standing at the bus stop wearing a florescent coat, or driving down Grant Ave. with their high beams on. First period teachers were frustrated when their classes stopped everything to watch the sun rise.

The Energy Crisis and other world problems held the attention of many, but less interested Osbournites could fill their time with other things. These things were (among others) basketball, wrestling, a Christmas Dance, gymnastics, Miss Osbourn, and even the Talent Show.

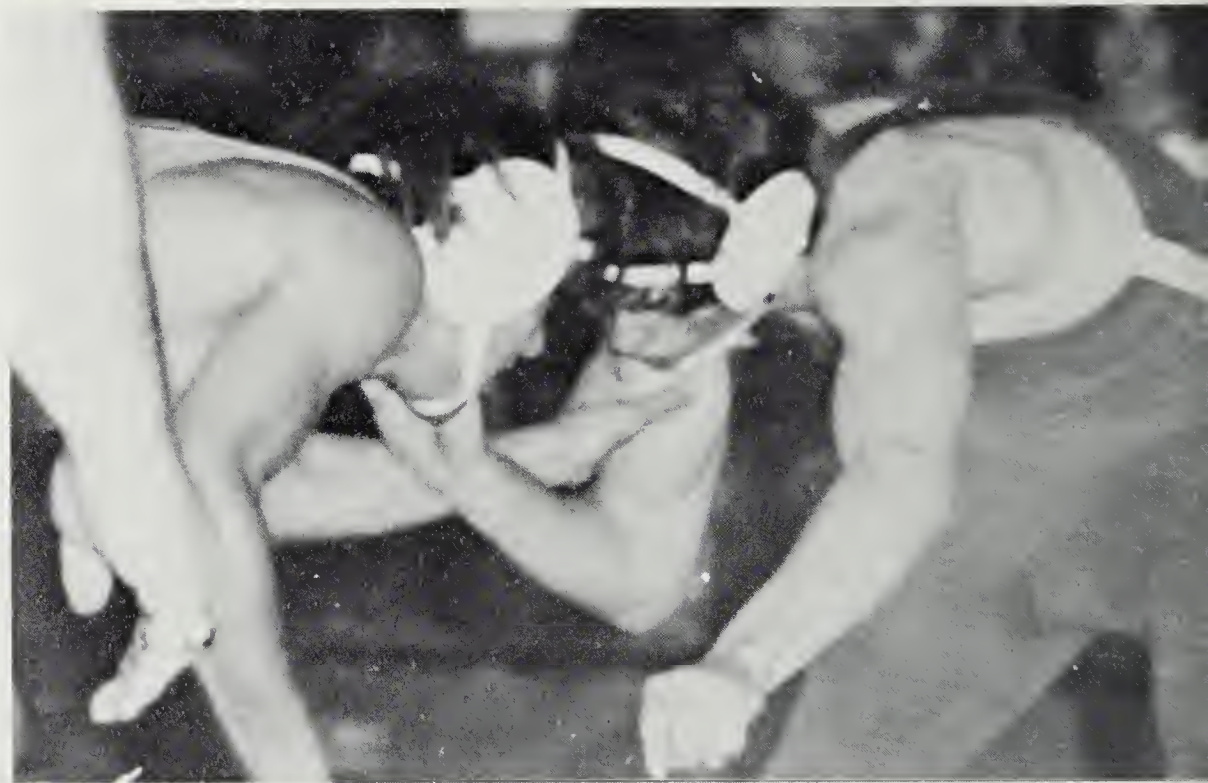

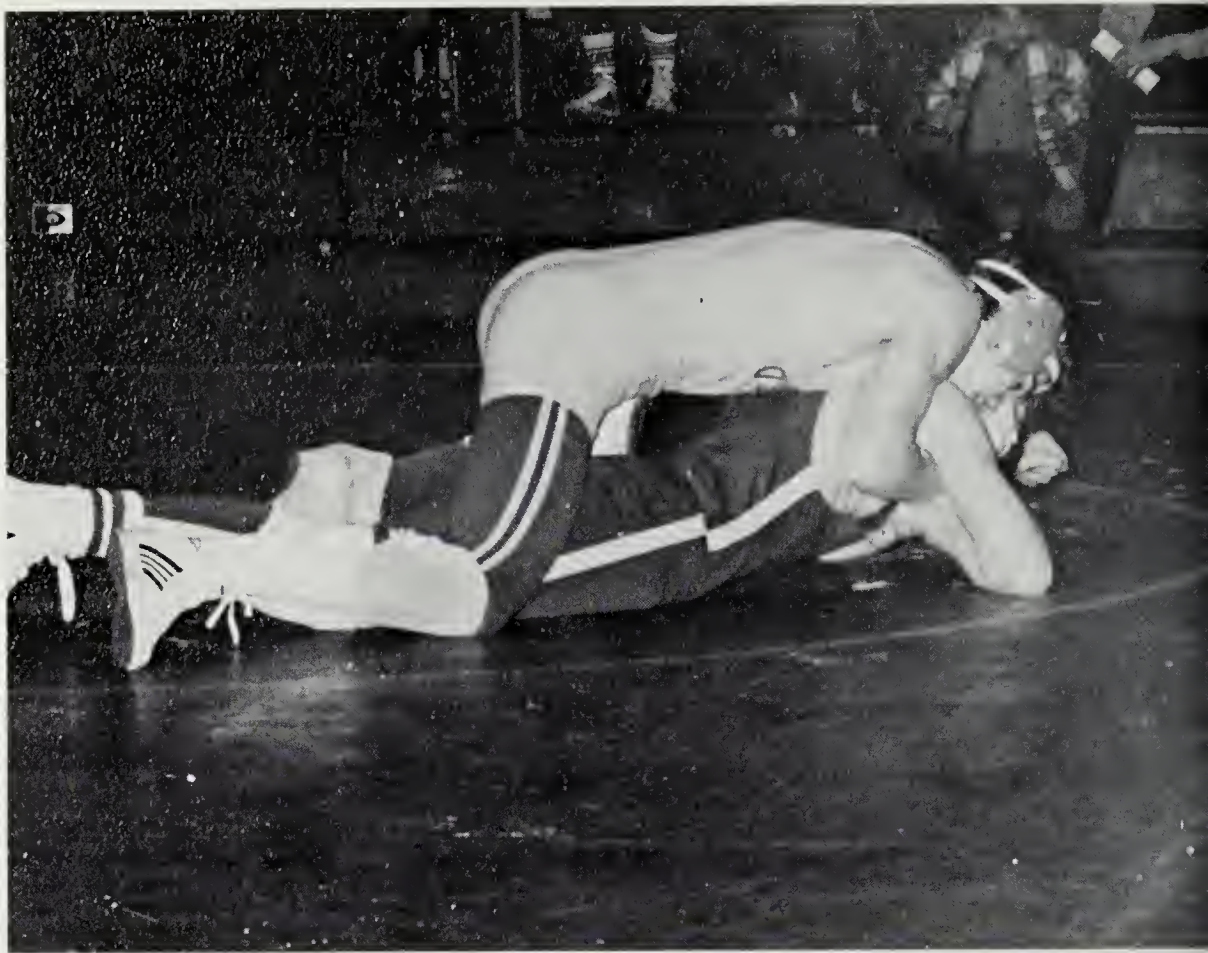

Top far left, a tree etches it's cold outline against the sky. Bottom far left, Cindy Kappeler and Dave Manning forget the world's problems while conversing at the Christmas Dance. Top middle, Kathy Zangas is congratulated by a swarm of competitors in the Miss Osbourn Pageant. Lower middle, The Talent Show was an important part of Osbourn's winter. Entertainment during the intermission featured this guitarist as well as others. Upper right, basketball was a major sport of the season. Lower right, wrestling another winter sport, began with high hopes.

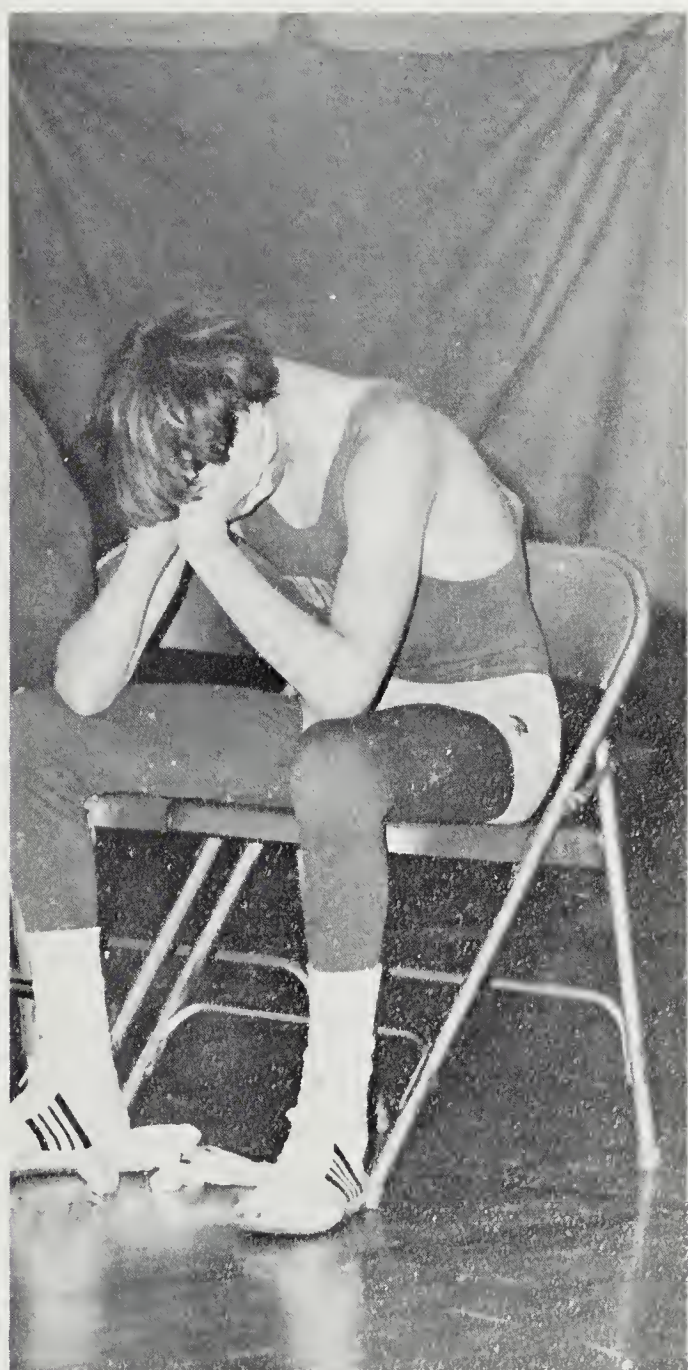

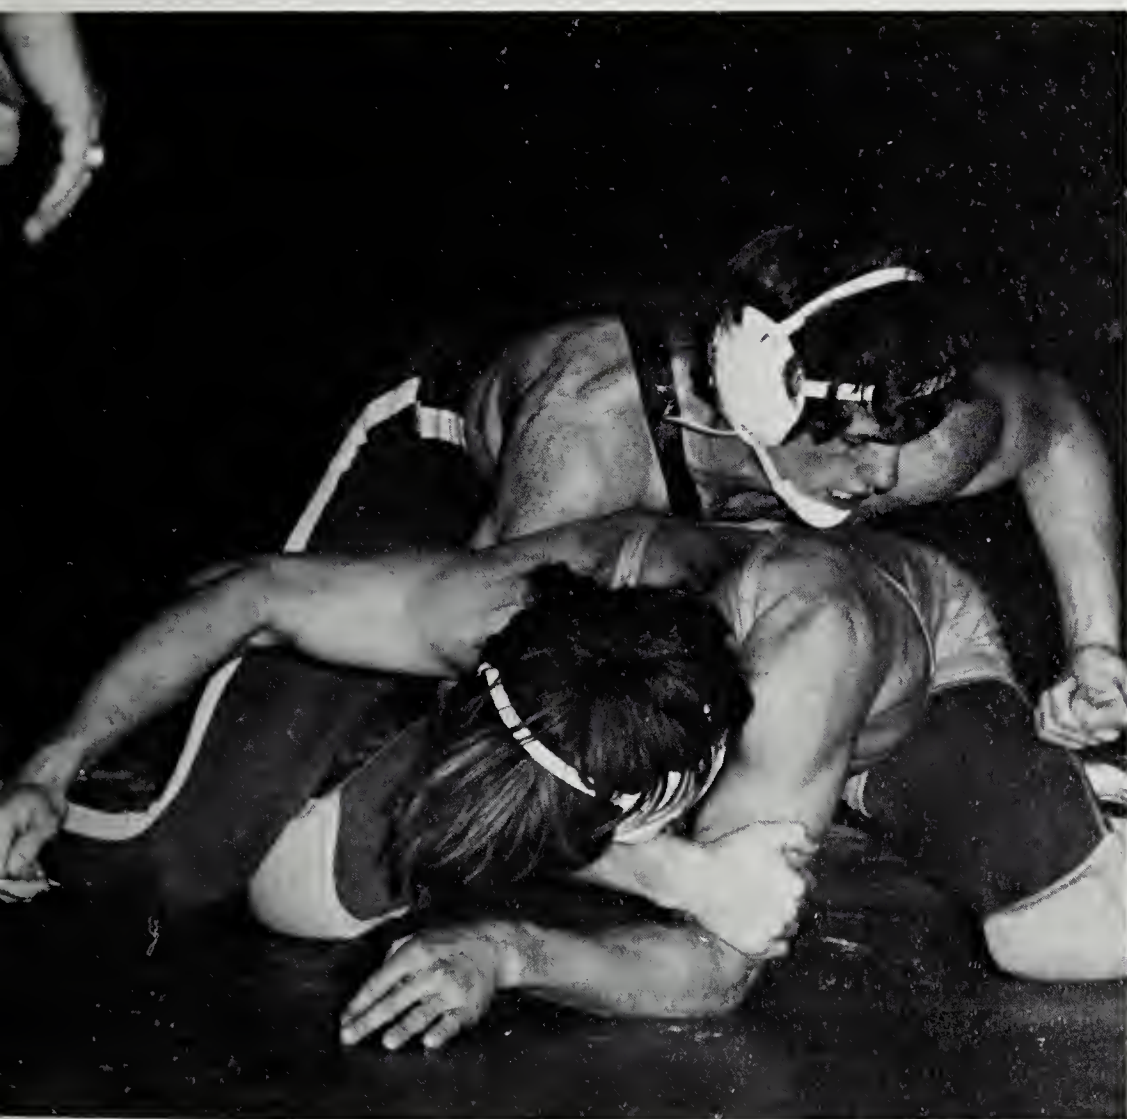

For Coach Robert Miller the 73-74 wrestling season was tolerable. Wrestling standouts were seniors Dayll Raymond and Gary Larsen. A very few people were leaving and the next year's outlook is promising.

A reverse! And two points for Osbourn against tough Garfield. "One-on-one", two determined opponents are locked in mortal combat. Dayll Raymond plasters his opponent to the mats. A close-up of the strain and determination that is wrestling. Punching is illegal and a foul is called. Gary Larsen is in complete control over his foe. A dejected Bruce Utterback contemplates a loss.

Wrestling
Improvements Needed

The Junior Class Talent Show came as a welcome improvement to a slow moving February. Saturday, February 23, was the show night and everything went perfectly.

For about two hectic months, members of the Class of '75 had worked late nights on the show, and after many changes, an acceptable program was found.

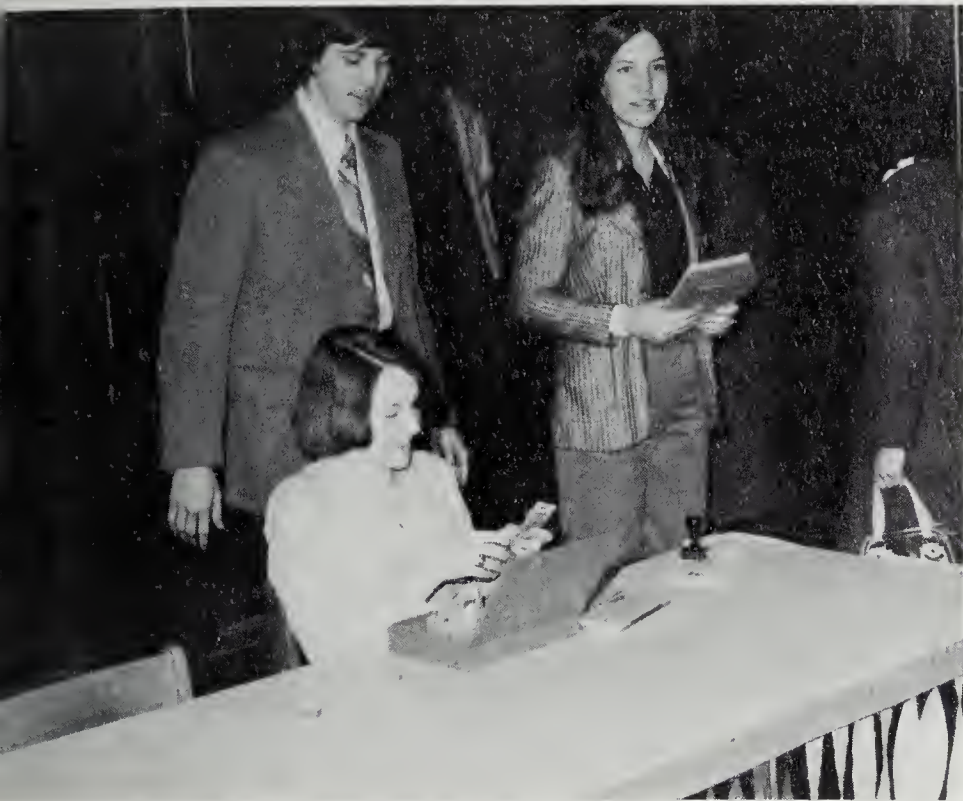

Barbara Brown and Rodney Moyers served as M.C.'s and the show ran a very smooth two hours. During the final intermission five distinguished judges met to decide who the winners of the $25, $15, and $10 prizes would be.

The winners were, third-place Laura Smith, second-place James Dayton, and the first place winners were Patty and Kathy Zangas.

The $200 made on the show went a long way towards making the prom the smashing success it was.

Performers

Snow White and Seven Dwarves on stage. Barb Brown and Rodney Moyers announce another act. Some local talent entertain in the intermission. Walter Lund as Snow White.

Laura Wayland, hard-working junior, sells tickets. Patty Zangas playing the guitar and singing. Mr. Harrah and Ms. de Blois, helpful and concerned, sponsored the juniors.

Talent

Kathryn Simmons performing a graceful ballet. The dwarves wait off-stage before going on. Lawrence Sullivan tells the story of Snow White to little Mark Rhoads. Christie Polen sings. Mary Warren costumed as a flower.

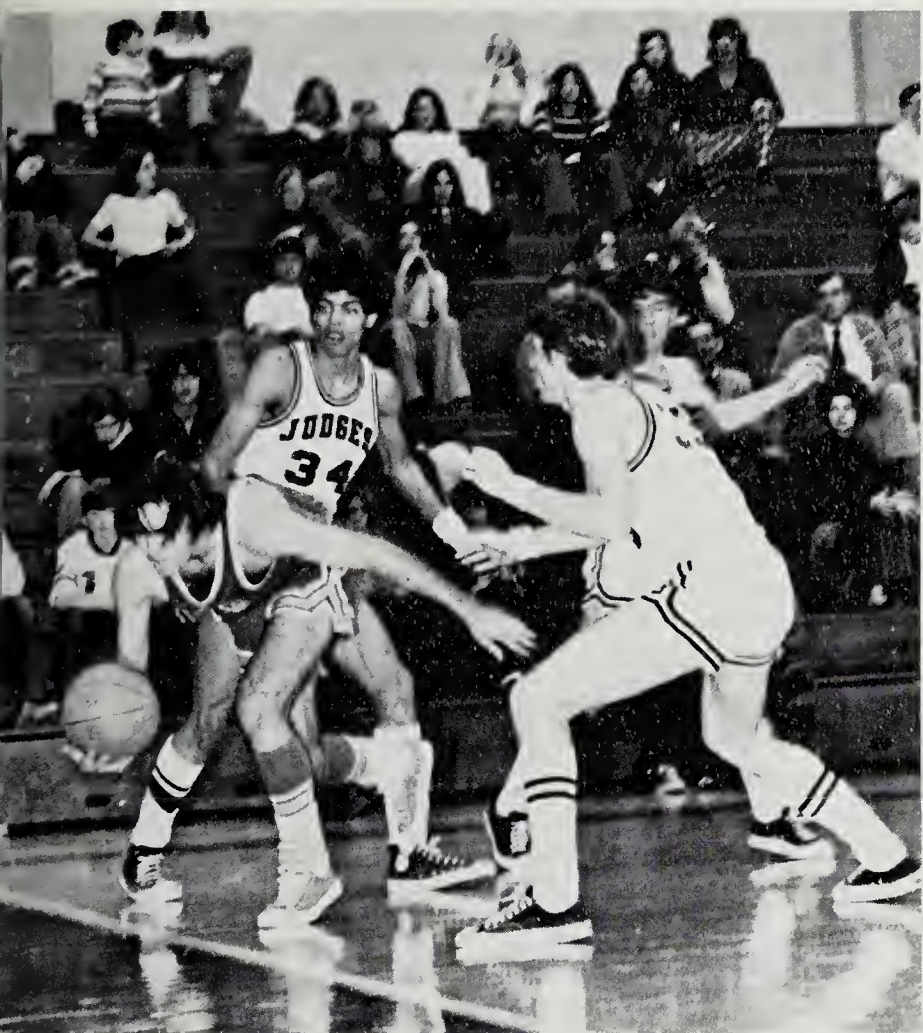

Pam Thornton performs. "Leaving on A Jet Plane" won James Dayton second place another popular song won Patty and Kathy Zangas first place. Lounging on the piano, Cindy Merritt entertains.

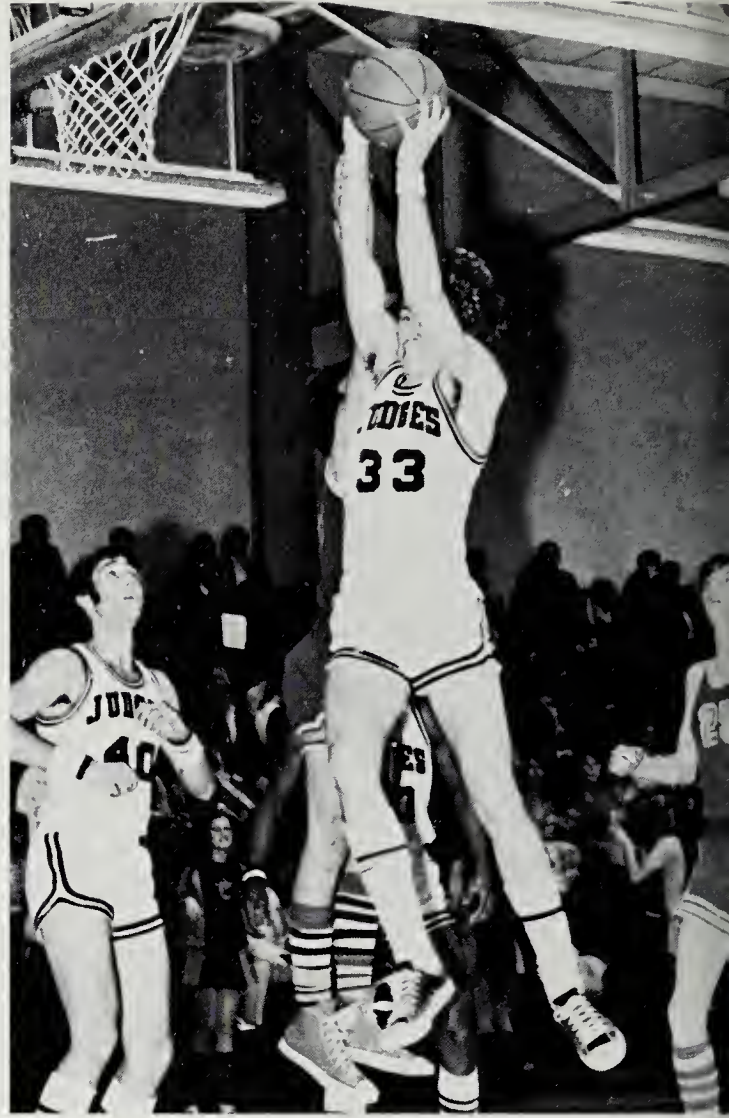

For Art Payne, second year coach of the Jackets, this year's 2-18 record could not have been very satisfying. Plagued by lack of height and experience, this year's basketball team will go down as one of the poorest on record. There were some bright spots though in this sometimes hopeless pitch. Johnny Ray Morrissey, senior guard, was eighth in the state in total scoring and will be remembered as one of the greatest basketball players ever to don the Osbourn Blue and Gold. Morrissey averaged over twenty points a game and was an invaluable defensive player.

The two wins of the year were a victory over Fauquier and a decision over fifth ranked Albemarle. A thrilling nip-and-tuck battle throughout the game, the Yellow Jackets were behind by five with less than twenty seconds left. With three seconds showing on the clock, the Jackets had closed to within one point. Morrissey got the ball and after an inspiring full court drive shot the winning two points. Chaos spread rampant across the gym, emotions ran high as Johnny Ray Morrissey cut the net, ending an otherwise depressing season on a jubilant note.

Shooting from six feet out, Paul Garrison fights against Handley as Johnny Morrissey awaits the rebound. Morrissey bounds by a passle of Handley defenders for two points. The action is fast and furious as Bill Gregory keeps the ball in bounds. Kevin Rhoads and Bill Gregory hope for a Handley blunder. After releasing a shot, David Rhoads falls back. #33 seems a little surprised as Morrissey makes a clean steal.

Jackets Struggle For Two Victories

Team Doesn't Get Together

Jackets struggle to gain possession of the ball while opponents attempt a score. Kevin Rhoads fouls a Handley opponent to prevent his two easy points. Studying the game carefully, Coach Art Payne watches from the sidelines. Making it look easy, Johnny Morrissey sinks a lay up. David Rhoads gets the Jackets two more points. Johnny Morrissey raises his hands dutifully after having a foul called on him.

Gymnastics

"We'll work on being graceful now that we have the basics," stated Coach Turner as he projected into the future of next year's girls' gymnastics team. A transfer from Brentsville Jr. High, Ms. Turner enjoyed her first year at Osbourn as she coached her team to two wins in five meets.

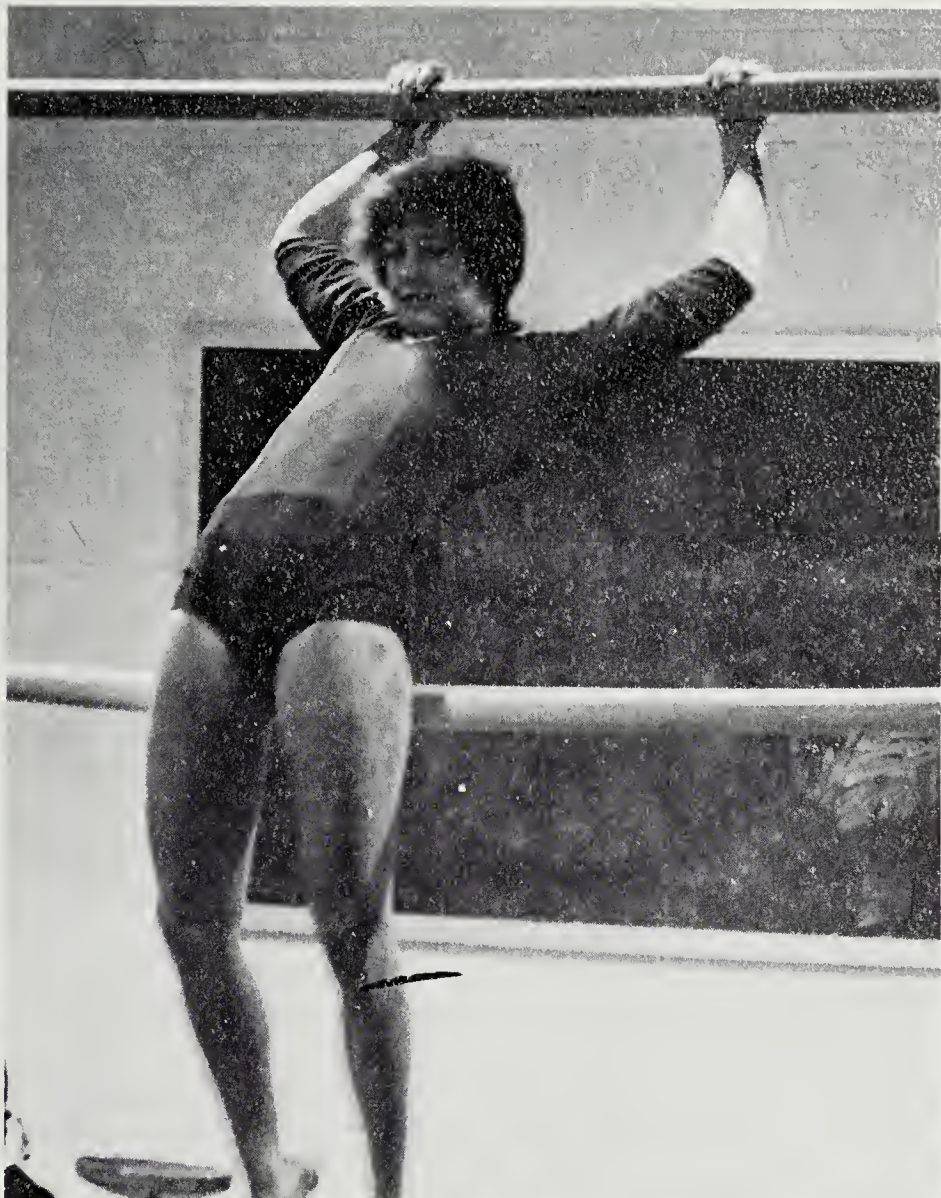

All the gymnasts will return next year except senior Ruth Lynch. This year, as in the past, Ruth captured many firsts in all-around competition. Other team members were Leigh Ann Dowell, unevens; Lisa Haynes and Karen Rice, floor exercises; Bonnie Thomasson, vaulting; Mary Beth Dowell and Chris Drazdowsky, balance beam; and Martha Derring in three of the four events. A happy moment in this year's gymnastics came when Karen Swenson won first place honors in the District Meet in vaulting.

Focusing her attention on fundamental acrobatic skills this year, Ms. Turner expects her young squad to improve in grace as well as in scores in the coming season.

Martha Derring shows her team spirit as Judy Hilton prepares for her routine. Karen Swenson displays her good form in floor exercises. Chris Drazdowsky gracefully balances on the beam.

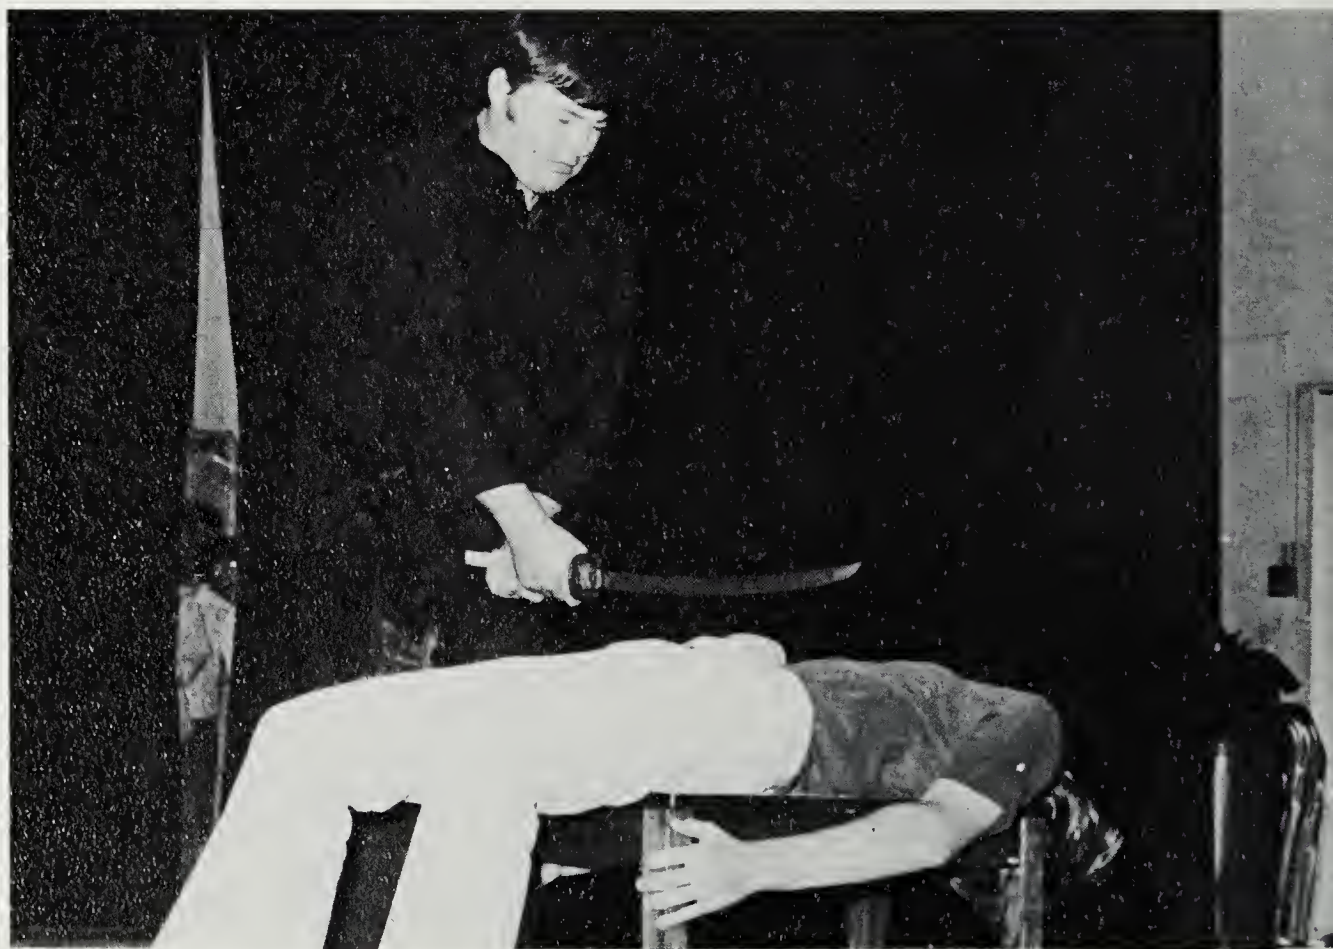

Karen Swenson goes over the horse. A beautiful half turn is executed by Mary Beth Dowell as her sister Leigh Ann begins performing on the bars. Martha Derring leaps magnificently. Chris Drazdowsky is silhouetted on the balance beam.

Kung Fu

Prepared for a boring assembly on who-know-what, students jammed the auditorium during the fall, ready to fall asleep as soon as the program began. To their surprise and delight, the assembly wasn't boring—quite contrary. An exciting performance on Oriental martial arts came in the form of Mike Crane, who has been featured in Sports Illustrated and in several television programs. Osbourn students discovered why he has been so honored.

Mr. Crane began by telling the background of karate, kung-fu and other arts. He then used his knowledge and technique to divide several boards in half. Next students and faculty became involved in the show. Barbara English learned that it wasn't easy to hold her hand still when she knew a crushing force might destroy it as well as the potato she held. Charlie Mobley and David Wood had the delight of having a potato sliced in two on their stomachs by a swiftly moving sword. Lawrence Sullivan and James Ashby were shown that they couldn't be muggers if Mike Crane were around—he could easily get out from their arm locks. The most enjoyed demonstration was Mr. Huddleston and Mr. Seese having a chance to have their heads severed by Mr. Crane's sword. But no, Mike Crane was far too good to injure any of the participants, and everyone, even those who had felt at the point of death, enjoyed the show.

Spring

A Grecian Paradise

The Miss Osbourn Pageant was an exciting night for all but especially for Kathy Zangas who was crowned Miss Osbourn 1974. Debbie Calevro and Barbara Carlton were runners-up. With the theme of A Grecian Paradise, and with Dale Raymond as MC, the pageant was a sure success. Intermission entertainment was provided by Ms. Boley, Duane Tibbets, and the Southern 7. Seniors put on the show with the creative and talented help of Ms. Keen and Ms. Gattis.

A new contestant is announced. A difficult question for Gail Bostic. Dale Raymond listens to a contestant's response. Waiting for her question is Paula Van Horn. Marcie Howard walks out to the judges. Kathy Burpo smiles sweetly. Brion Smith escorts Carol Wolfrey.

Miss O

Ms. Boley and Duane Tibbets entertain at intermission. Five of the Southern 7 performing while the judges make their decision. Contestants assemble for a group picture. Kathy Zangas—Miss Osbourn. Julia Saylor answers a tough question as others wait. The show is over as winners make plans for celebration. Barbara Carlton, second runner-up, being congratulated by Mr. Bailey. A happy first runner-up, Debbie Calevro hugs Kathy Zangas as Julia Saylor looks on.

Despite pre-season prediction of a championship team, the OHS varsity baseball team struggled to a 2-10 season. Many of the games were squeakers, for instance, a 7-6 loss to Gar-Field in nine innings. With two outs in the bottom of the seventh and a Gar-Field Indian on first, Osbourn was leading 6-4, and wouldn't you know it, a home run, 6-6.

Another heartbreaker was the 7-6 loss to powerful Lane. Three Jackets connected for home runs, John Martin and Danny Marshall each had one and Terence Frame smashed a three-run and a solo homer.

Pitcher Gary Pearson was the workhorse of the team, at times pitching in consecutive games without a rest. A fine pitcher, Gary's record doesn't do him justice.

Another standout was centerfielder Robert Brooks, who had a .390 average and made some timely catches.

Osbourn's two wins were an 8-4 victory over James Monroe, and a 4-1 decision over Fauquier to end the season with a winning note.

Coach Bailess was, to say the least, frustrated with the season, which for him must have been one of the longest on record.

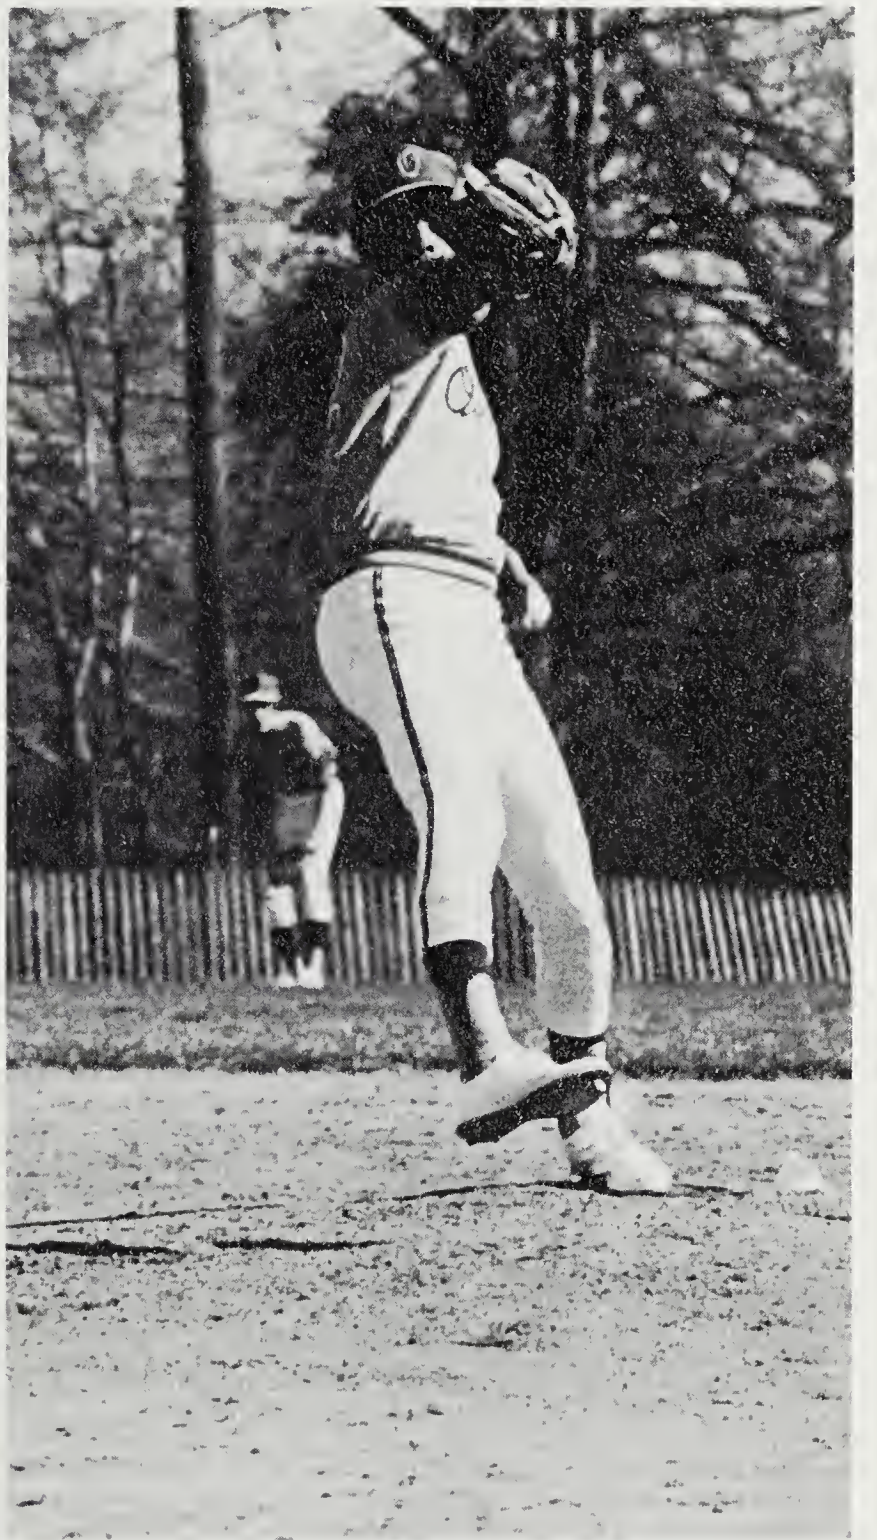

Third baseman Paul Walters takes a swing. The bench lends support to a Jacket batter. A ground ball and Zarco Ellis sprints for home. Steve Fischer takes a throw at first as Robbie Hair lends moral support. Lean, hard-throwing Don Howard gives a fine relief performance. John Martin takes a fierce cut . . . foul. John Watts makes the turn at third and leads for home.

Queen Bees Poison Gar-Field With Victory Sting

Miss Nancy Huff and her outstanding Girls' Softball team won another County Championship this year—but it was won the hard way, in a playoff.

Coach Huff thought all of her girls were excellent players, on the field as well as on the bench. "They all possessed so much spirit and teamwork," she boasted, "which in crucial moments helped us to overpower our opponents.

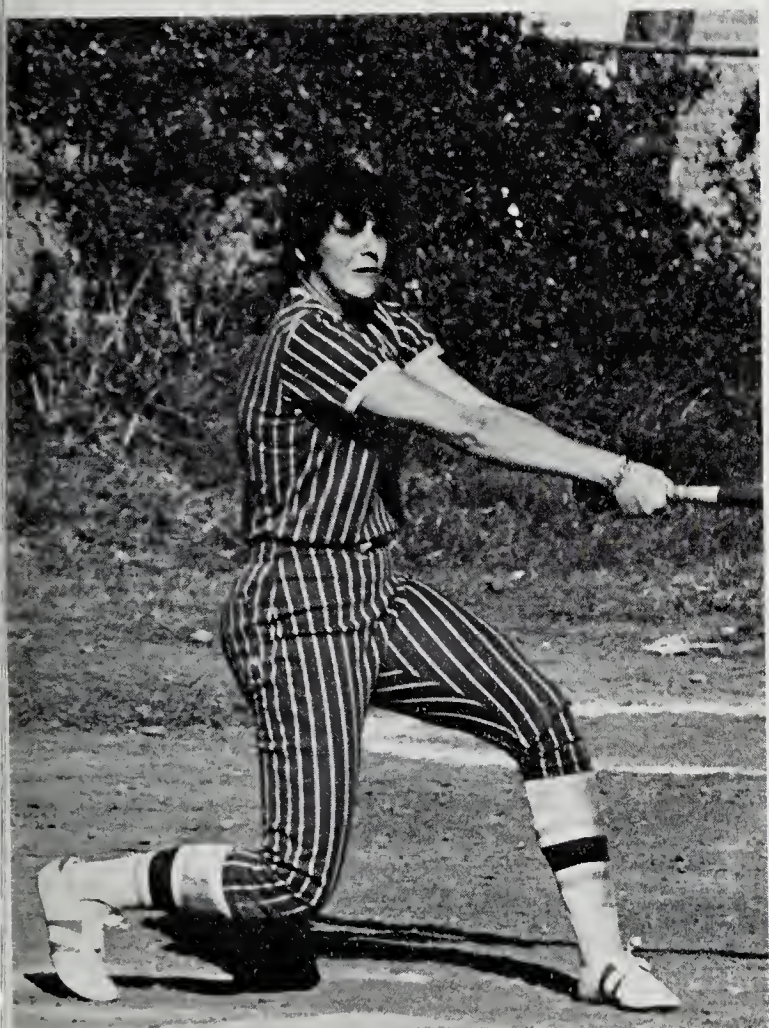

The Championship was a difficult game. Having played the team twice before in the season, and just barely winning, Osbourn knew a fight could be expected from Gar-Field, who was eager to take the Queen Bees' crown. The game was an exciting one, in which the final score was 12-9. The Queen Bees took the county title.

The game was played at Ben Lomond, a neutral field where the spectators saw beautiful plays, hits and runs by the Bees, a team that should have won without the playoffs. Osbourn had an 8-0 record with two remaining teams to play, both badly beaten in previous matches. However, with overconfidence two unpredicted game results occurred. This took Osbourn to the playoffs.

Championship hopes are in next year's team too, although five starters will have graduated.

Good hitting (as shown by Barb Christopher and Donna Penton), scoring (like Lisa Hewitt's slide into the plate), fielding and pitching (such as Joy Zimbrow's fine throws) results in a happy team.

Girls' Track Sprints Into Second Place in County

The OHS Girls' Track team finished their scheduled season with a 3-3 record, and placed second to Garfield in the county championships.

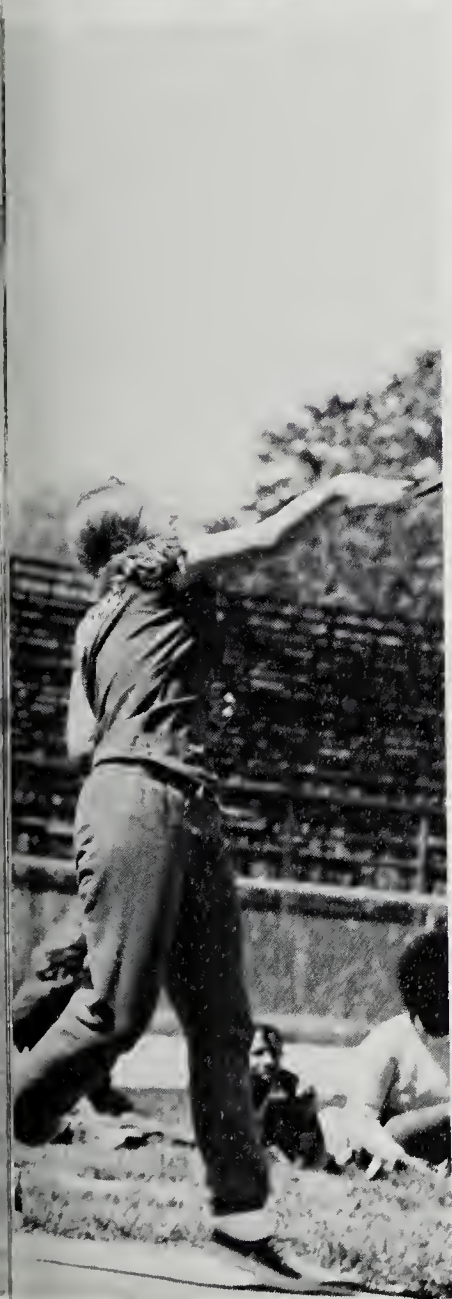

This year's team was coached by a new P.E. instructor, Ms. Barnes, who had many plans to make girl's track more popular. She made every effort to encourage and work with the girls, assigning different daily workouts.

The Queen Bees were a large team, with just a few short of forty staying the season through the hard workouts and the nerve-wracking meets. Many outstanding performers such as Kathy Zangas, Hess Stuart and Debbie Kratzer were seniors and would be leaving, but dedicated runners like Julie Mogenis, Audree Olsen and the freshmen members would be back the following year.

For eight girls on the team the season lasted past the County Meet. They went on to regionals in Mt. Jackson, where our 880 relay team, Audry Olsen, Hess Stuart, Debbie Kratzer and Kathy Zangas, placed third, Julie Mogenis placed fifth in the 880 yard run and Kathy Zangas took fifth in the 440 yard run. All of these girls were eligible for the Virginia State Track and Field Meet at Garfield. Unfortunately there were no outstanding performances, but determination is high to get to State again next year.

Audrey Olsen and Julie Mogenis warm up for their events. Winning again, Hess Stuart takes the 100 in her heat. Good handoffs are an essential part of relays. Julie Mogenis finishes second in the 880. Pictured are Osbourn's putters and throwers: Debbie Calevro, Diane Breeden, Susan Ross, Linda Allen, Donna Smith, Tammy Watts, Rory Hart. Diane Breeden puts the shot far. Leslie Frazier takes off. Throwing the discus with all her might is Debbie Calevro. Bonnie Thommason and a Garfield runner take the hurdles neck to neck. Showing confidence in their team, the crowd boosts the runners' spirits.

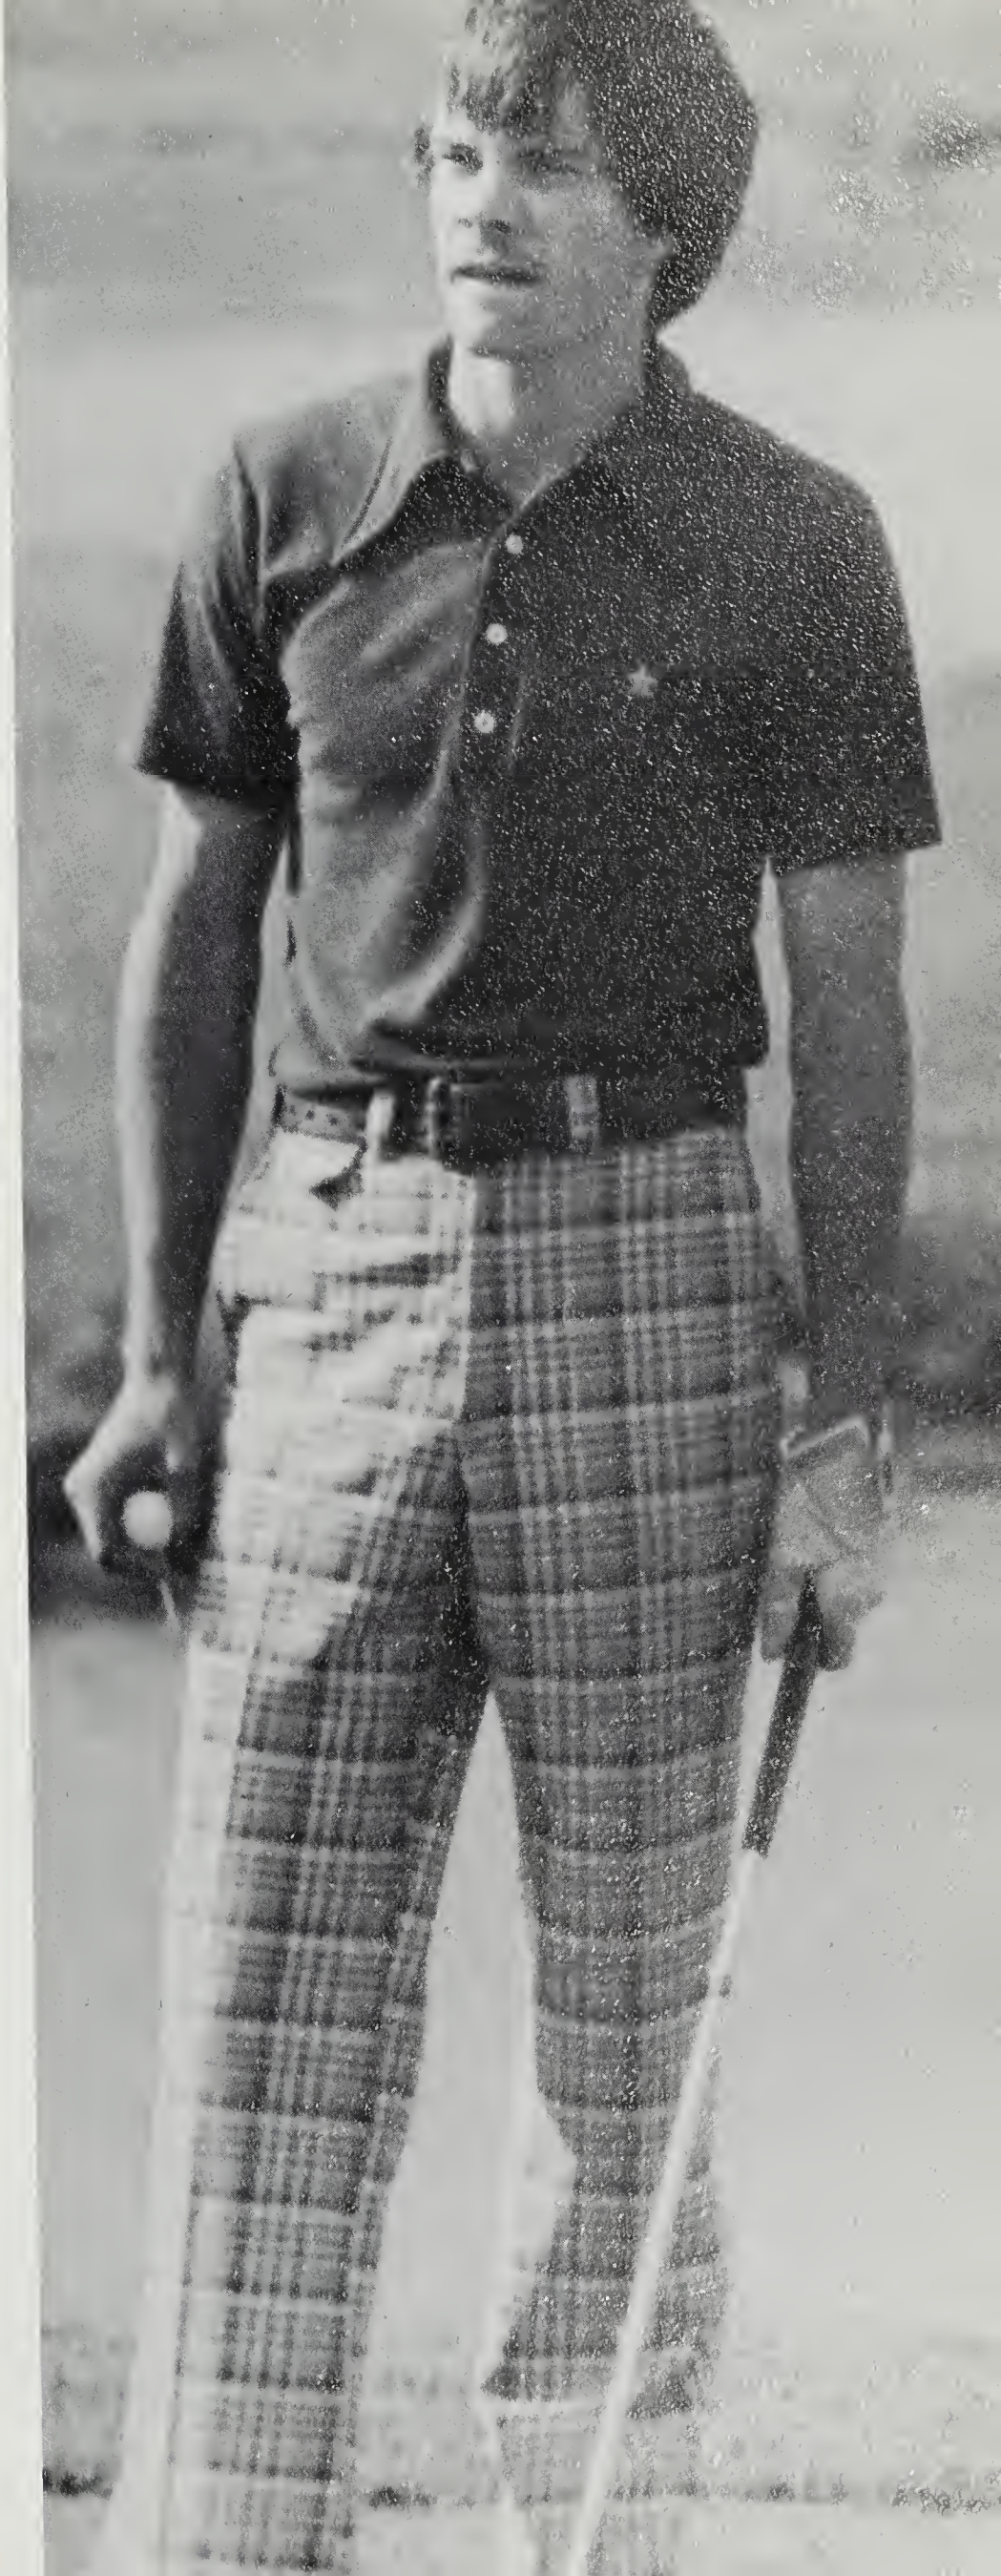

Swinging beautifully, David Wood watches his shot go soaring through the air. Coach Sudduth proudly displays the district champions' trophy. Pondering his next shot, Brion Smith studies the course.

Osborn felt the glory of victory this year due to the fantastic playing of the golf team. Lead by coach Barry Sudduth the club-swinging group obtained a 10-3 record, thus enabling them to go on to the District Championship match.

At the District match Ben Hynson, Brion Smith, David Wood and Pete Mueller defeated Albermarle and Stonewall for the championship. The victors then went to Regionals and placed sixth out of thirteen teams.

District Champions

Track

Sprinting, jogging, pacing, and weight lifting were all part of Coach Kuhn's and Coach Hornfeck's training schedule. The boys worked hard and ran on different computerized training levels, but all this gained only one win.

Certain individuals though always placed and scored for Osbourn. David Thompson, for instance, brought home many honors as did Bobby Pauly, Richard Tales, Curtis Muddiman and Rick Woodward. Rick was the only one on the team to qualify for regionals, but Coach Kuhn believes next year a tremendous track team will arise and Osbourn will give the other schools in the district competition.

Later on in the season a climax was reached. Our team broke two of Osbourn's long standing track and field records at the Rappahannock Relays. A relay team of Curtis Muddiman, Jay Long, Mark Grant, and Bobby Pauly broke both the two and four mile relay set by previous Osbourn runners.

Leaping over the hurdles is Jerry Smith. Sailing through the air, David Thompson broad jumps. Oscar King slips over the bar. John Zangas plugs along. Rick Woodward heaves the shot. Leading the pack is Curtis Muddiman. Suspended in mid-air, Keith Parker makes it over the high jump. Jim Beale prepares to land. Runners strain at the finish line.

The tennis team, lead by number one man Geoffry Hayden, finished the season with a fine record. Geoff went through the season without a single loss; however, his unblemished record came to an end at the Regional Tournament. Playing excellent games against the first man from Woodbridge Hayden's opponent prevailed.

Overall the tennis team was well rounded, having both experience and talent. According to tennis coach Mr. Will, next year's team should be just as strong. The only members that will be absent from the team next year will be Kevin Rhoades and Larry Wong.

Besides bringing home victories the tennis team featured a new attraction. It became a co-ed racket with Melanie Gillum, the first girl on the team. Mr. Will has strong faith in Melanie, believing that if she can overcome her shyness she may go from ninth to first man—uh, woman . . . how about person?

Preparing to serve is Brad Young. Battling it out, the Yellow Jackets play doubles. Tom Doolittle attempts to ace his opponent. Larry Wong returns a serve. Watching the court, Brad Yount, Tom Doolittle and David Rhoads study the tactics used in the game. #1 man, Geoffry Hayden, doesn't seem very satisfied with his game. Tom Doolittle faces the net as Brad Yount serves.

Centered around the theme "The Wizard of Oz," this year's Prom was a success due to the hard work of several dedicated juniors under the leadership of President Mike Van Horn. The hall was decorated with things from the land of Oz, including the Wicked Witch of the West. The atmosphere was almost like that of the movie. Most who attended took advantage of the music of Cape Horn and the various refreshments.

Spring Concert

Since the Christmas Concert was cancelled due to snow, band and orchestra members looked forward to the Spring Concert. The Symphonic Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Bill Criswell and the Osbourn Band, with the leadership of Mr. Frank Mesite gave excellent performances. The profits of the fine show were given to the Manassas Association for Retarded Children.

Concentrating on a difficult phrase, Betsy Bean cellos on. During a break, Mr. Mesite presents the proceeds to the representative of the Manassas Association for Retarded Children. Raising his arms high, Mr. Criswell emphasizes a crescendo. Mr. Mesite keeps time while the band plays a soft number. Carefully watching the director is Beverly DeLong. Mr. Criswell and the Symphonic Orchestra make sweet music together.

Under the skillful direction of Ms. Boley the Choir presented an evening of fine entertainment. With the theme "It's a Grand Night for Singing" the group did hit numbers from the Broadway shows "Cabaret," "Showboat," "South Pacific," and "Hello Dolly."

Twirling her umbrella, Christie Polen strolls across the stage. Ms. Boley directs her group. Singing away, the Madrigals give a wonderful performance. The show's performers assemble for a bow. Brad Yount and Cindy Merritt sing their hearts out. Stepping high, can-can girls do a number from "Cabaret." Decked out in a sailor's garb, the boy's chorus sing a tune from "South Pacific." Gorgeous like usual, Walter Lund emerges from the audience.

A Grand Night

Osborn Park

Last year an announcement in the daily bulletin concerning the 72-73 Hi-Jacket's sales drive read "Be sure to reserve your copy of Osborn's last yearbook." This was not false advertising; at that time it was a common belief among students that the next yearbook would bear the name Osborn Park High School. Unfortunately, this was not the case.

Because of numerous delays and blunders the students of Osborn High School are still inhabiting the oldest high school in Prince William County. To date, Osborn Park is only three-fourths completed, months past its scheduled completion date and $135,000 over its designated cost. The move is now scheduled for November, nine months late.

The first prophetic signs of disaster came in 1972 in the beginning of construction. The new $7.4 million, 2,500 student complex was unknowingly situated over a major shale fault. Excavation problems and bad weather slowed construction for months, and things got worse.

Walls collapsed, roofing leaked, pipes were cut too long or too short. A 16-inch concrete floor was poured with no sleeves in place for pipes and heating ducts to pass through, and as yet it hasn't been decided whether or not the school's roof was built according to design or if the copper flashing on the wall joints was put on backwards.

Ranger Construction Company of Atlanta, the general contractor for Osborn Park blames unusually severe weather and the unexpected shale fault for delays in the excavation work. Ranger also claims that the subsurface conditions varied from the engineering data supplied to them by the School Board.

According to Dr. Ernest Mueller, Prince Williams's Assistant School Superintendent for Administration, Ranger's blunders include; hundreds of feet of building footings excavated and poured in the wrong place, leaky plumbing and gas lines that had to be dug up and reinstalled, over 100 feet of five feet high brick facing built without steel reinforcements, numerous pipe hangers and concrete sleeves installed in the wrong place, the wrong size or not at all, and still other outlandish foul-ups.

A lawyer for the Prince William School Board says that Ranger Construction Company is "being forced to bear the cost burden of these mistakes and they're hurting." He also doubts that they will meet the most recent contract deadlines and believes they will end up paying at least $82,500 for damages.

For the residents of Prince William County, the nation's fastest growing large county according to the 1970 census, and the students of Osbourn High School, who are on split shifts and still crowded, the money is not going to do much good; the most important thing for them is to get the school finished.

This may be Osbourn's last yearbook but somehow the Hi-Jacket staff does not feel optimistic enough to use it as a sales pitch.

the Washington and the Manassas
Journal Messenger.

As in past years, the seniors decided to descend upon Cacapon State Park in West Virginia to release their penned-up frustrations after 12 years of school and to have a good time before facing the world. There were gripes about the weather, the distance to the park, ("we spent more time on the road to and from the place than we did there") and the money needed when there—nothing was free. But despite this, the seniors enjoyed the swimming, boating, and all the other activities the park had to offer.

Senior Picnic

One of the reasons why Osbourn seniors keep coming back to Cacapon is its woodland beauty. Keeping the campfire going, Ms. Of-ferdinger works on getting the food ready for the hungry horde of seniors. "Where do we put all this stuff?" a group of slightly confused seniors ask on their arrival at the park. Wandering around, two senior girls enjoy the peace of the park. Vicki Walker beams after learning how to maneuver a paddle-boat. Another paddle-boater is Henry Willis, waiting for another boat to run into.

With remembrances of past Baccalaureate services in Osbourn's too small, too hot auditorium, the class of '74 decided not to repeat the previous uncomfortable experiences of other graduating classes and chose to hold Baccalaureate in the large, air-conditioned sanctuary of the Manassas Baptist Church. Although some late-comers still had to stand, more friends and relatives could attend the meaningful proceedings.

Being a time for reflection, seniors look back during Baccalaureate to the time when, as promoted juniors, senior portraits caused important ponderings, and they look to the future too—to the day of graduation.

THE OSBOURN HIGH SCHOOL CONCERT CHOIR

Miss Wandalyn Boley, Director

Mrs. Becky Verner, Accompanist

*Audience standing

The night was cool and beautiful contrary to the annual fears of excessive heat, mosquitos or rain. Long before 8 o'clock on June 11 the crowd had been gathering to see the commencement exercises for the class of 1974. Some spectators remarked that the only way to get a seat was to be a senior, the bleachers held only a part of the mammoth gathering.

Marching to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" the seniors filed to their seats. After the exercises had gotten under way, salutitorian Joyce Conner presented her feelings on the past four years. She was followed by Mr. William R. Murphy, the member of the House of Delegates representing Prince William and Loudoun Counties, and a former principal of Osbourn. Valedictorian Brooksie Duncan continued the program after Mr. Murphy's well received address with her own timely thoughts. Excitement rose as scholarships and awards were handed out to deserving seniors. During these proceedings added visitors viewed the ceremony—a couple of wild rabbits temporarily disrupted the presentations while scampering across the field. Things returned to normal by the time Lawrence Sullivan received the Lipscomb Award. The ultimate excitement came with the presentation of diplomas to the over 300 seniors. Tears and thrilled laughter marked the end of 11, 12 or 13 years of long, hard work, and now the class of '74 faced the world.

Standing tall, valedictorian Brooksie Duncan proudly delivers her speech. One of the most active Osbournites, Lawrence Sullivan receives the coveted Charles E. Lipscomb award. Joyce Conner presents her meaningful salutatory address to her audience. Laughing, crying, thinking, the class of '74 files on to Swavely Field.

What Was the Future Is Now the Present

Beaming one of her famously enthusiastic smiles, Sally Kempf graciously accepts the Lilonette award. The podium goes to Mr. Seese, who introduces the guest speaker, Mr. William R. Murphy, former principal of Osbourn. With that special exuberance only obtained by graduates, Conrad Barbee joyfully accepts his diploma from Mr. Bailey, as does Kathy Nugent, who wears that look of determination. Solemnly paying attention, the men of the class of '74 listen to their last OHS lecture. Blending in their voices for one last occasion, the seniors sing with the concert choir. Mus- ing on their future, the women of the class of '74 ponder the speaker's words.

Most of the 304 graduating seniors of 1974 have very definite plans for their future. Almost 40% of the class is going to college. Among those colleges Madison and Northern Virginia Community College are the most popular. VPI was also chosen by many students to be their next alma mater.

Comparatively few seniors are going to colleges not located in Virginia. This can be explained by the high tuition for out of state residents.

The fields of study chosen by college bound students include psychology, speech therapy, biology, engineering, law enforcement, architecture, sociology, art, music, animal science, pre-nursing, radio, television, elementary education and secretarial sciences.

Eleven seniors are already married and in June several others will have taken matrimonial vows.

About one-twelfth of the graduates are undecided about their plans for the future as they cannot decide between college, marriage, or a job.

Tuned in to records, freshmen find the learning facilities at Osbourn useful. Freshmen like Martha Hylton can continue orchestra studies here at OHS. Strolling down the hall, girls go to their next class. Although trying to mix in, freshmen stick together during lunch.

Rock it isn't, but freshmen must listen to English records as well. Browsing through the library, Ralph Green needs to find that book which never seems to be in. Freshmen do participate, as majorette Denise Fields proves.

Hi-Jacket:

Starting with a staff of eleven people, (almost twice as big as last year) Editor Debbie Crowe and sponsor Mr. Mike Scott, optimistically assigned a section of the book to each person. The staff was enthusiastic and planned a spring delivery book. Last year due to the lack of members and organization, four people had to work for three solid weeks after school was out to complete the book. These people were determined that this wouldn't happen again.

But somehow it did. Dwindling attendance at mandatory meetings and deadlines passing by unnoticed were just minor problems. Hard working Assistant Editor, Cathy Roseberry was stricken with mononucleosis in February and was incapacitated until May. With a wedding planned for June Debbie became increasingly busy and in April was forced to quit. The editorship was left in the capable hands of Kathy Nugent.

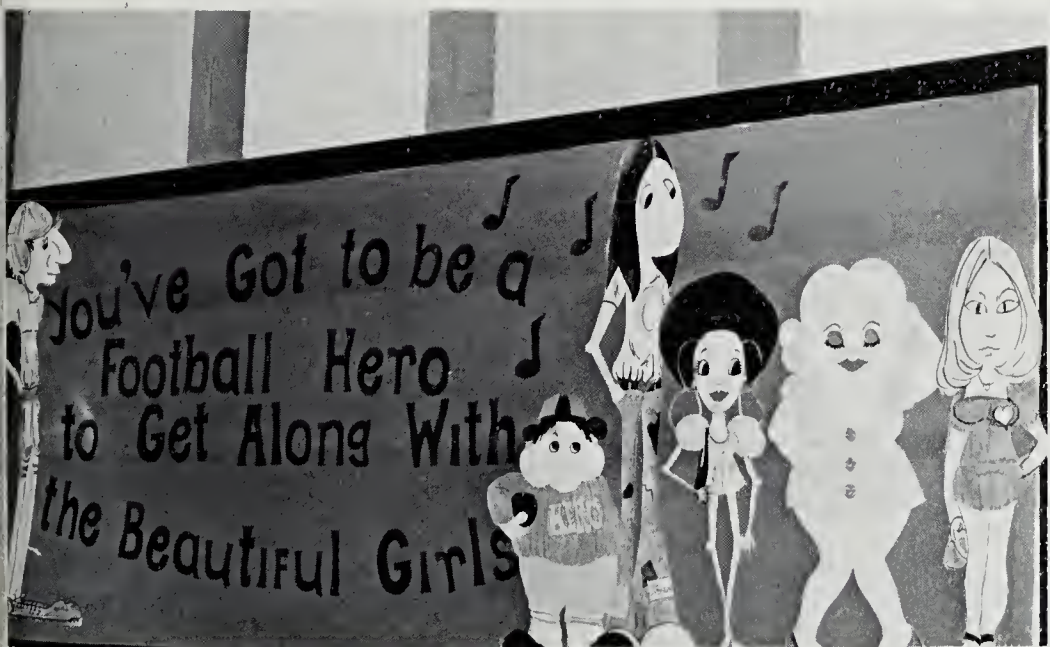

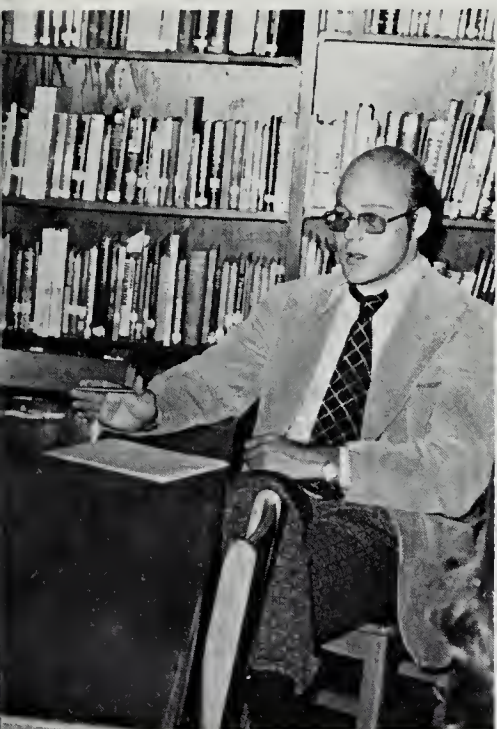

This year's book could not have existed without the indispensable help of the following people: Girls' sports editor, Julie Mogenis; Business manager, Lenora Hofma; Copy and caption writing, layouts, Liz Nugent; Typing, copy writing and layouts, Diana Hassel; Boys' sports copy, Mike Van Horn; Typing—Lisa Hewitt, Girls' Sports—Julie Mogenis and Photographers Larry Smith and Larry Wong.

THE JAYCEE CREED WE BELIEVE:

That
faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;
That government should be of laws rather than of men;
That earth's greatest treasure lies in human personality;
And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

An Uncertain Year

A hazy, unsettled feeling seemed to be suspended over Osbourn, as well as the rest of the world this year. This strange presence was especially felt by those who tried to keep up with local, national, and international affairs. This cloud could quickly come upon any group that taked about Osbourn Park, gasoline, the School Board, Ranger Construction Company, the paper shortage, Watergate and related subjects, plus many other debatable topics.

Optimism could relieve the feeling. Happy sounds of the year included the Bob Dylan concert, girls' softball, and the golf team, along with the annual euphoria over graduation, parties and making an A on an Algebra test that was a sure C. And even among the pessimism that infected too many people there was still the hope that the coming years would be cleaner, happier and less shadowy than this year of uncertainty.
